

Dear FCC,

I am writing to request that you do not move forward with the proposed expansion of LPFM service.

By expanding this service, you would give priority to LPFM stations over current FM translator service thereby affecting hundreds of thousands of K-LOVE listeners. K-LOVE is a family friendly radio station. One never has to worry about the DJ's swearing, using vulgar language, talking about inappropriate topics, or speaking about things that kids shouldn't hear. Instead, they promote positive behavior.

They serve the local community by sharing information on local events free of charge. They support local organizations, play positive and encouraging music, help local charities promote things, provide international news on things other stations don't cover, and encourage listeners make active contributions to their own communities.

Most stations play commercials every few moments. It is a breath of fresh air to listen to K-LOVE where this is not the case. The services K-LOVE provides are of great benefit to the public. I implore you to not allow them to be replaced by expanding LPFM service.

Sincerely,
Carla Crane
